21) Best Practices Adopted by the Institute:

1. Best Practice-I :

Title of Practice: Institutional Social Responsibility (ISR)

Objectives:

- 1) To inculcate social awareness, moral values and environmentally responsible behavior amongst students.
- 2) To nurture students as citizens with moral, ethical and social values so as to provide service to the society through activities and discharge their obligations towards the society.

The context:

Being an educational institution we have certain responsibilities towards the society and environment at a large. They are as under.

- (1) Protection of Environment: Pollution is a major problem of present times, which is due to commercial organizations. Air pollution and water pollution are due to the industries, chemical plants, cement plants, etc. An institution should take all possible measures to minimize pollution.
- (2) Reasonable use of Resources: An institution should make proper use of available resources in the large interest of the society. The resources like fuel, water, land, etc. must be used economically.
- (3) Reservation for Weaker Section: An institution is expected to provide the jobs and employment opportunities for uplifting economically weaker section of the society.
- (4) Development of Villages and Backward Regions: The society requires that An institution should start development in villages and backward areas in every aspect. This will uplift the overall rural population.
- (5) Financial Assistance: The society expects donations and financial assistance for various social causes, such as eradication of poverty, illiteracy, etc. They expect company to take part in anti-drug campaigns, anti-noise campaigns, and so on.
- (6) Employment Generation: An institution generates employment in various fields. Such effort will help to solve problems caused due to unemployment in the society.

The practice:

- Making students aware and encourage them for our responsibility for societal development.
- Arranging training and awareness drives for unprivileged school children, orphanage, old homage, etc.
- Adopted few of the surrounding villages for overall social development of the citizens of villages. Undertaking activities, schemes for village development.
- Developing education projects based on need for unprivileged school students, orphanage, old homage, etc.
- Organizing training and awareness drives in association with social organization, clubs.
- Planning and execute projects for physically challenged persons.
- Arranging seminars and lectures by social workers for faculty and students.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

The major challenge of executing this practice includes making the intuition to uphold social responsibility activities as well as the institutional academics both sustainable in four ways: ethics, economic, social and environmental. Paying equal amount of attention to all the four dimensions, but many institutions think that social responsibility is a much exterior part of their business, whereas most think it to be an irrelevant issue for their business as satisfying their students is more important for them. It is further felt that social responsibility is crucial over the knowledge inculcation and skill development among students. Concentrating only on academic aspects makes them blind folded towards other important changes taking place nationwide. The change is named as social responsibility which is an opportunity in itself for the future

2. Best Practice-II

Title of Practice: Employability Enhancement Training Model (EETM)

Objective:

Development of the competent workforce of the country. It is expected that the under graduates and postgraduates who have passed out successfully from the college are competent and fit enough to work independently in a variety of settings.

The context:

In response to this, OCT has introduced an Employability Enhancement Training Model for setting up a high standard of employability enhancement which ensures training of undergraduates and postgraduates who can function independently as engineers, experts, researchers or technical teachers when they complete their course. This model is a progressive step that addresses variability of standards within and across the departments.

The practice:

Entrusted professional activities is an essential professional work, activity or task for future engineers that requires specialized knowledge and skills, and encompasses multiple competencies. Once done, it ensures that the outgoing graduates can be trusted to perform that professional activity at any level.

S. No.	Table showing Steps involved in Employability Enhancement Training Model (EETM)
1	Departments prepare a list of competencies required to be attained by the graduates and set their levels to identify at what level students are achieving them.
2	Competency level are evaluated two times in a semester
3	Appropriate actions are taken if it required and improvement over this practice is found out if any.

4	The students are graded by the faculty after admission and the difference in levels, if any, between self-assessment and faculty assessment, would be shared with the student as feedback. This process enables the student to understand the differences between one's own perspective and that of the trainer.
5	On admission, each student is allotted Tutor Guardian (TG) who will mentor with the student till the completion of the course.
6	The mentor follows and records the progress of the student on regular intervals.
7	The students are encouraged to discuss aspects of their training, the difficulties perceived in the course and other relevant issues with the mentor.
8	The mentor responds to the queries and records his/her observations in his/her weekly post.
9	For students not showing 'Satisfactory' progress, intervention in the form of a focused feedback and additional exposure to learning resources and skill training is instituted.
10	In addition to the TG, other HoD can also monitor the progress of the student & provide constructive feedback.

Evidence of success:

The main highlight of model is preparation of a list of EPAs. Since competencies are not directly measurable they are stated in terms of EPAs and their levels. Each EPA is mapped to respective and appropriate domains of competency and level of competency at the end of 1st to 8th semester of undergraduate course and at the end of 1st to 8th semester of Postgraduate course. Outcome of this process is we have successfully made our students competent and ready for the industry. Our placed students themselves show the evidence how effective we have executed this practice. 300 students
